The Amazing Artemis Mourat

Don't miss this opportunity to study with one of the top dance professionals in Middle Eastern, Turkish, and Roma dance. With 37 years of experience, Artemis has been dancing, teaching, and researching dance history in the U.S. and abroad for her entire adult life. Of Greek and Turkish descent, Artemis fuses her love of these cultures with deep academic knowledge and excellent dance technique to present compelling, spirited workshops that include information on the history and cultures that generate the dances.

Artemis has contributed to many publications. Her travel to 33 countries and intensive research into the idioms of the East, women's issues, psychology, ancient history, Oriental dance, Romany (Gypsy) dance, and dance ethnology have yielded many manuscripts and articles.

Artemis holds an M.S. in psychology and an M.S.W. in social work with specialized studies in cross-cultural awareness. She has also done post graduate work in dance and movement therapy, and field research in ancient dance, Middle Eastern dance, and Romany dance in Turkey, Romania, Czech Republic, Spain, France, England, Morocco, Tunisia, Germany, Slovenia, Italy, Egypt, and Greece. She has attended Romany festivals in various countries gathering footage of Romany dance. She has also amassed one of the largest collections of antique photos of Roma and dancers from North Africa and the Middle East in the U.S., including illustrations that have been used by the Smithsonian Institute, the International Encyclopedia of Dance, and many publications.

When she's not traveling for performances or workshops, Artemis teaches regular classes and private lessons in belly dance in Bethesda, Maryland.

Check out www.albahira.com for workshop descriptions and additional information.
